BOOM SPORT AT FORDHAM

The Fordham University undergraduates witnessed four good boxing houts last night in the alumni entertainment rooms on the Maroon campus. The art of self-defence was expounded in many phases during the three round contests and the sport of the squared ring received a unanimous vote of being a form of athletics worthy to receive collegiate recognition.

Fred Wenels, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, manuged the affair and offered several little chats on the points of the gince, Just to show that he was once a liret class amateur lightly weight, he allowed Freddic Welsh, the champion historiespit fighter, to show he is now a second rate heavyweight, it took three rounds to produce the impression, and Chairman Wenek surprised the Maroon the Maryon the is now a second rate heavyweight, it took three rounds to produce the impression, and Chairman Wenek surprised the Maroon the work of the gince of the

Who Makes the Car?

HAT question is of vital importance to any person about to purchase a car An automobile cannot be a bit better than the company that makes it. The greater the reputation of the manufacturing company the more con stantly it will strive to perpetuate that greatness in the cars it produces.

Again, you also want to know how long the maker of your car will last, how long that service will continue. No one wants a car as a memento of some company that once made automobiles. You're not making a stamp collection.

Here are the most complete answers ever given to those important questions The STANDARD STEEL CAR COMPANY makes the "Standard Eight."

Before automobiles were popular, the STAN-DARD STEEL CAR COMPANY was worldfamed through its designing and building of steel equipment for safeguarding the travelling public.

For the efficient doing of this industrial work great resources were necessary. From these resources have come naturally the facilities for making right automobiles.

For years past, trained engineers and chemists of this company have been testing the strength of steel equipment. The company with its own special alloys and formulas has been making steel parts at its own foundries and rolling mills.

Four years ago all these resources were turned to the making of a perfect automobile.

The resulting car was for two years tested on mountain roads by officials and engineers of the company before being placed on the market.

The result is that the eight cylinder car introduced last year is still unchanged in construction -so perfect its long testings have proved it.
